EKUI is a multisensory Learning Methodology with Universal Design for Learning (UDL) and therefore inclusive. Is based on scientific evidences and is the only one in the world that combines four ways of representation and expression.

One can work with it through a material set as the EKUI alphabet (literacy cards with letters represented in 4 formats).

Uppercase and lowercase letter

Portuguese Sign Language alphabet letter

Phonetic alphabet letter (speech sounds)

Visual and relief Braille letter

The EKUI Methodology helps to:

- learn faster the sounds and letters;
- distinguish similar letters (b,p,d,q);
- distinguish similar sounds (x/j; f/v, ...);
- reduce writing errors;
- teach children and young people with and without learning difficulties how to read and write;
- empower parents, teachers, educators and other professionals;

Where and with whom it can be used:

At the kindergarden trough the tale "EKUI and the barriers Monster"

At the beggining of literacy with primary education classes.

In special education.

The EKUI Methodology is already being implemented in 463 schools
